Crisis Relief work is referring to the urgent provision of emergency aid to reduce the suffering of victims of a natural and/or man-made crisis. Relief is, by its very nature, immediate and temporary. It is prolonged only when self-reliance is impossible. The basic dynamic is provider and receiver.

*Development work is the process of on-going change that promotes well-being by overcoming poverty of condition, being, and purpose. Development isn't done to people or for people, but with people. The key dynamic is promoting of empowerment.
